

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

Based on the finding in the previous chapter, there are some important conclusion that can be presented by the writer as follows:

1. The students' reading comprehension achievement in control class is not too increased. It can be seen from average score between pre-test and post-test. The value of pre-test is 40.72 and the post-test is 68.09 besides, during the learning process of reading, almost all the students do not show interest in learning reading comprehension.
2. The students reading comprehension achievement in experiment class shows good increased. It can be seen from the average score between pre-test and post-test. The value of pre-test is 43.06 and the post-test is 86.47. Besides, during the learning process of reading, all of the students more active and more attractive.
3. There is a significant difference achievement between the students who are taught by using Cooperative Learning and the students who taught without Cooperative Learning strategy of the seventh grade at SMPN 4 Sampit. It can be seen from the result of t-test shows the value of  $t_{table}$  and  $t_o$ , in the degree of significance of 5%,  $t_o$  higher than  $t_{table}$  or  $t_o > t_{table} = 7.8268$ . it means that Cooperative Learning can improve students' reading comprehension achievement.

B. Suggestion

At last part of this thesis, the writer would like to give suggestion. The writer also hopes that this thesis can give benefits to anyone who read it. Here are some suggestion that may help teacher, students, or other researcher that intend to conduct further research.

Firstly, by applying various strategy, such as Cooperative Learning, as alternative strategy in teaching English, teacher can help students to increase their ability in learning English skills, especially reading. Cooperative Learning strategy can be used in order to make the students more interested and more active in learning reading process so that they may not be bored in learning reading in English.

Furthermore, in learning English students need to realize that the learning is not a one way process. To accomplish the goal of learning, students should involve themselves in the classroom activity built by the teacher. By the taking part in the activity, students can also improve their ability in English and also their social skills. Students' proficiency in English is not solely teacher's responsibility; it also depends on students' active role in learning English.

Finally, this writer can also become a contribution to the research in education which is intended to find out the effectiveness of certain techniques, in this case the Cooperative Learning strategy. This research may also be a relevant previous study that can be used by other researchers to conduct a further research relating to the implementation of Cooperative Learning strategy.