

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

This chapter focuses on two points related to the results of the data analysis and discussion after conducting the research. Then, it can be taken some conclusions and also suggestions from the research.

A. Conclusion

This research was carried out to analyze the teaching and learning process in classification of single homeschooling model and community homeschooling model. The researcher concluded the data of teaching and learning process from observation sheet at 7th grade of junior high school in Primagama homeschooling Banjarmasin. In this part the researcher analyze about the process of teaching and learning has done by the teacher in classification on single homeschooling model and community homeschooling model. After the researcher analyzed the observation sheets, analyzed the data. The researcher give the conclusion as follow:

1. The teaching and learning process are implemented by Primagama homeschooling Banjarmasin. There are most dominant method, technique, media and evaluation using by Primagama Homeschooling in classification single homeschooling model and community homeschooling model are Grammar Translation Method, Translation, the most dominant media that are used using by Primagama Homeschooling in classification single homeschooling model and community homeschooling model are textbook and whiteboard. In the process of teaching and learning Primagama homeschooling used 5 activities for evaluation such as: daily test 1, daily test 2, daily test 3, middle test and final test. The dominant types of test using by Primagama homeschooling are multiple choice, fill in the blank and essay.

B. Suggestion

Referring to the conclusion above, the researcher proposes some suggestion to the students and teacher and can be explored more by further researcher as follow:

1. The researcher hopes the teacher should do brainstorming as warming up before the teacher starts teaching in classroom in order to make the students happy and relax.
2. The researcher hopes the teacher using more media for teaching and learning process to attracted students in order to make students interested on the material.
3. The teacher can try to used various of method, approach and technique while teaching and learning process.
4. It would be better to improve more interaction between a teacher and the students when learning and teaching process and it would be better for teacher to try new roles in teaching and learning activity.
5. Based on this research, the researcher hopes that the results of research will give knowledge about teaching style in homeschooling that is useful for teaching and learning process, for example it can be another source for understanding deeper about teaching style in homeschooling.