Listening is also one of four skills in English where this skill is the first that have to be learned first before learning another skills. Listening very important in teaching and learning process because the students must understand about what teacher's talking about. In the teaching and learning process, the models of teaching and learning interaction in classroom is very important as it constitutes part of the teaching and learning process. (Dagarin, 2004, p. 128) stated classroom interaction is interaction between the teacher and the students that occur in the classroom during the teaching and learning process.

The research design used a descriptive qualitative method. The researcher used the English teacher of the seventh grade of MTsN Pantai Hambawang Barabai to collect factual data. And also the subject of this research is English teacher, and the object in this research is the interaction models in teaching and learning process.

Based on the research result, the researcher found that the types of learning models in listening skill used by teacher were using audio visual media, such as used a speaker. And also only one teacher who speak to the whole class. Then all students listen about what the teacher has said.
