

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

This chapter consists of conclusion and suggestion. After analyzing the data the researcher made conclusion and suggestions as follows:

A. Conclusion

1. This research has successfully to answered of research questions for the presuppositions that found in university slogans in Indonesia. Based on analysis of the data, from seven university slogans the researcher has found 10 presuppositions. From 10 presupposition of university slogans the researcher concluded that only 3 types of presupposition are found in the selected of university slogans in Indonesia. There are existential presupposition, factive presupposition and lexical presupposition.
2. The most dominant type of presuppositions found in selected of university slogans in indonesia is Existential Presuppositions, There are 6 Existential Presupposition or about 60%. There are 3 Factive Presupposition or about 30 % and there are 1 Lexical Presupposition or about 10%.

B. Suggestion

1. Learning presupposition is interesting because it is everywhere in our environment. The researcher suggested that lecturers of UIN Antasari Banjarmasin use example in their environment about presupposition to make the learning process become more interesting.

2. For the reader, the researcher suggests that they can improve their understanding more about presupposition. Because it can be useful to understand what the speaker or writer means.