3. How long have you being friends with them?

Answer: I have been friends with Kelly and Mirai for about 4 years, while with Abdul and Maria it's been 6 years. But with Reichi I just became friends about 6 months ago.

4. What are their jobs?

Answer: Kelly, Mirai, and Reichi are students. Abdul work as an employee in one company. But Maria work as a gymnast.

5. How often do they interact in a month? Every day, every other day?

Answer: I interact with them about 5 times a month because they are busy with their schedules.

6. Where did you meet them in the first time?

Answer: I met Abdul and Maria from social media "Line", while Kelly, Mirai, and Reichi I met at my school! They are very nice and friendly people.

7. Does having intercultural friendship improve the quality of your speech?

Answer: Yes, I do. When communicating with them on social media, it really helped improve my speaking and writing skills. I can learn a lot of new vocabulary and also new lessons about everything.

8. How do you adapt difficulties when communicating with them?

Answer: I just need to see and read their writing style because I think their writing style is very easy to understand. If there is something I don't understand, I will ask them.

9. How much impact of your intercultural friendship on the quality on your English skill?

Answer: I think pretty big, because when I communicate with them I do it happily and enjoy it that's why this has a pretty big impact.

10. What kind of online platform that you use to communicate with them?

Answer: I used instagram, line, and facebook to communicate with them.

11. What type of communicating that you use to communicate in online platform with them? i.e personal chat, group chat or online gathering.

Answer: We communicate in personal chat and group chat.

12. What difficulties while you communicating through online platform with them?

Answer: The most difficult part of communicating on social media is guessing their tone. Such as angry tone, sad tone, or happy tone. Because I could misinterpret their tone of speech and this could make us misunderstand each other.

13. How can you adapt their speaking style/written style?

Answer: I think their writing style is very easy to understand. If there is something I don't understand, I will ask them.

Student Name : YF

1. How many friends that you have through intercultural friendship?

Answer: I literally never counted how many online friends I have, probably 30+ and most of them are middle eastern students/uni students

2. Which countries are they from?

Answer: the closest ones are from jordan, egypt and india

3. How long have you being friends with them?

Answer: it's about two years with them

4. What are their jobs?

Answer: the one from india just finished having internship, probably had graduated, the one from jordan also almost graduated just like me, and the one from egypt is a sophomore

5. How often do they interact in a month? Every day, every other day?

Answer: I still keep in touch with the one from india, we share each other random posts on instagram DM, I also do the same with the one from jordan but I have deeper conversation with her about our activities and our fav rapper. However I dont really talk to the one from egypt in a month, unless we just sent sticker on whatsapp as a response to our status cz she's quite busy as a medical student.

6. Where did you meet them in the first time?

Answer: I met them from Maher Zain fandom on facebook, you know when you are linked with ppl with the same interest and frequency, facebook will recommend you more of such people, thats how we met

7. Does having intercultural friendship improve the quality of your speech?

Answer: Yes, actually, it affects me a lot from them

8. How do you adapt difficulties when communicating with them?

Answer: Sometimes I cant understand what they were really saying so I asked for their confirmation if what they meant is really 'this thing', Other times I keep replaying the vn till I can get a grasp of their real messages and so I'm ready to give responses and if my interpretation is wrong they'll surely correct me anyway

9. How much impact of your intercultural friendship on the quality on your English skill?

Answer: First, my vocabulary increases, not significantly, but it does increase, all of us are not native speakers so we always try to make each other understand using the most common expression and phrases in the conversation. Second, my writing skill in terms of storytelling is a lot better. When we wanted to tell specific important event, we gotta tell it in sequence and detail and there I can practice my writing skill.

10. What kind of online platform that you use to communicate with them?

Answer: Instagram, Facebook, and also WhatsApp

11. What type of communicating that you use to communicate in online platform with them? i.e personal chat, group chat or online gathering.

Answer: Personal chat is usually used but for gathering like videocall is a big no for us.

12. What difficulties while you communicating through online platform with them?

Answer: The major difficulty of communicating online esp when we do most of the time is chatting is understanding the interlocutor's emotion. Words are too limited to describe someone's emotions and yes we have emoticon but the intensity is still not on point, like if you send them are you actually laughing out loud like or you just wanna appreciate the memes them sending? Wallahu a'lam. Once one of them telling me that she was having breakdown and severe anxiety and I deeply worry about her, helping her as much as I could, but in the next second she legit sent me laughing emoji talking about other stuff, so I was kind of disappointed of her reaction or probably of my overwhelmed reaction and likee hell, what??

13. How can you adapt their speaking style/written style?

Answer: I asked for their confirmation if what they meant is really 'this thing'

1. How many friends that you have through intercultural friendship?

Answer: I have many international friends from other countries and it's around 42 people.

2. Which countries are they from?

Answer: They come from Hong Kong (2 friends), 20 from Malaysia, 3 from South Korea, 1 from Mexico, 2 from Vietnam, 2 from Japan, 1 from Thailand, 4 from India, 2 from Sri Lanka, 1 from Egypt, 1 from Netherland, 2 from China and many more.

3. How long have you being friends with them?

Answer: It's almost 4 years, they are AIESEC friends and other activities such as SMART CITY 4.0 almost 2 years, Friendship From Indonesia (FFI) almost 3 years.

4. What are their jobs?

Answer: They have different jobs of course. Some of them still a student and others work in a big company in Amazon as Marketing, and others work as engineers, teachers and many of them already graduate and they want to continue their study.

5. How often do they interact in a month? Every day, every other day?

Answer: We don't contact each other often, but when we have free time we will contact each other just to ask about their daily activities or sometimes we give a comment to each other posts/stories and make a conversation through that.

6. Where did you meet them in the first time?

Answer: First time I met them in Malaysia through AIESEC internship for 6 weeks, others in South Korea, and local internship.

7. Does having intercultural friendship improve the quality of your speech?

Answer: This is the point. I am really thankful because through these activities she can improve her speaking skill. In the beginning she felt worries she can't adapt with them because she personally never communicate with foreigners.

Now, she is really confident speak in English even she made mistakes, she don't really care because as she know my friends are support her and never judge her English. They always help her to correct my English sentences.

8. How do you adapt difficulties when communicating with them?

Answer: For the first time it's really difficult for her. She always try her best to improve her confidence when speaking. Her friends always help her in speaking English. Despite that, she always practice more and more to improve her speaking skill especially fluency in speaking.

9. How much impact of your intercultural friendship on the quality on your English skill?

Answer: So many impacts that comes to my life because having international friends helps me improves my English skill such speaking, writing, reading, and listening. And especially in speaking have 4 aspects that need to be improved such as fluency, pronunciation, vocabulary and grammar and those aspects significantly improved. The fact the intercultural friendship brings positive impact is few years ago my TOEFL score was 480, and now is 520.

10. What kind of online platform that you use to communicate with them?

Answer: I prefer to use Whats App, Instagram and Facebook. But the most is Whats App.

11. What type of communicating that you use to communicate in online platform with them? i.e personal chat, group chat or online gathering.

Answer: I prefer contacting them via personal chat because it's easier for me to talk and I can focus on the topic being discussed, but sometimes we meet each other in online meeting group.

12. What difficulties while you communicating through online platform with them?

Answer: my challenge is maybe the problem is the time zone because we are from different countries so it's hard to decide what time we want to have an online meeting and also when we have online meeting or videocall, we will communicate with our own language accent, and sometime it's hard for me to understand, especially Indian accent. When we chatting, their writing style is quite complicated, sometimes I opened the dictionary when I don't know the meaning of words. And sometimes their pronunciation was not clear.

13. How can you adapt their speaking style/written style?

Answer: I sometimes change my speaking style. Ex., my friend is from Malaysia and of course they have different style in accent and slang words. In my opinion, learning English from foreigners is not a nightmare because they are humble to correct our English. And not all of them come from native English speaker, For example Vietnam, English isn't their first language. It's hard for them to learn English because they speak Vietnamese and the way how they speak and write is totally different. In one time you need to understand their speaking style/accent to make a good conversation. But from that, I always watch videos about their speaking style and learn their language style, read and memorize the vocabularies so I can have rich vocabulary. From the problem I've mentioned above, slowly I can understand it with the help of dictionary and learning videos. But now, I have no problem with that, now I can easily communicate with them through online platforms. If we want to improve our English the keys are we shouldn't be afraid of making mistakes and please practice more.
