B. Discussion

After the data were processed and present in this study, the researcher present the findings above. As mention in the first chapter, there are two research questions that should be answered in this study. After conducting the reasearch and analyzing all the data, the researcher would like to conclude all the result of the study as follows :

1. Moral Value in Moana Movie

a. Bravely

Bravely is a dare to try things that either though difficult. Majority who dared to oppose the flow is moving toward one and dare to something difficult but correct (Linda & Eyre, 1997). From the data found by researcher related to Moana's character in the movie, a teenager who dares to take the difficult decision of sailing alone out of the island where she lives in search of Maui and restore Te Fiti's heart to save the island and her people from distuction.

b. Love and affection

Affection is a way of showing love or expressing love from someone to other. Affection is also created because of a sense of caring (Linda & Eyre, 1997). From the above theory in according with the moral values found in Moana character, namely love and affection which Moana is someone who cares deeply about her people's and her island, she want to save her islan from distaction.

The form of affection is presented in the quotation of the dialogue below.

Chief Tui : We'll find a way.. We..

Moana : ... can stop the darkness. Save our island. This cave has boats. Huge canoes. We can take them to find Maui. Make him restore the heart. We were voyagers. We can voyage again. You told me to help our people. This is how we can help our people. Dad. What are you doing?

Chief Tui : I should've burned those boats a long time ago.

2. Implications of The Moana Movie in Learning English

- a. Movies that interest learners can positively influence their motivation to learn (Sommer, 2001; Kusumaradyati, 2004; Luo, 2004). Movies in addition to motivation can also make the language learning process more entertaining and fun. This is in line with the data found that the implications for students from watching movies is a fun and entertaining english learning activity that can make students feel that they are not learning. Movies provide a visual context that will make it easier for us to understand what the characters in the movie are saying through the expressions and gestures of the characters in who speak and listen to them. From the data above, the researcher remembered that he taught at PPL 2, when the researcher showed the Moana movie in the English learning process, the students felt entertained and happy when the material used was watching movies.
- b. The belief that everyone likes to watch English movies as an interesting strategy to teach English as a foreign language to students (Kusuma, 2015). From this theory in line with the data found that teachers can teach students vocabulary that they has never heard through dialogue and songs presented in the movie. Students also can increase vocabulary by watching Moana movie, not only from dialogue between players but this film also present songs that can be accompanied by children while watching them. From watching movie can improve students skill in learning English such as listening skill, speaking skill, and vocabulary skill, because the dialogue in the movie uses colloquial to be spoken directly by English native speakers. Based on the data above, the researcher remembered the lesson taught by the researcher when teaching at PPL 2. The researcher showed the Moana movie as a learning material that aims to increase students' vocabulary, then after that the movie was finished the researcher asked the students to write down what vocabulary they had just heard from the movie.
