

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

This chapter presents the conclusion of the study and suggestion. First, the researcher would provide the conclusion based on the elaborated data in the previous chapter. Next, the researcher would give suggestion to future researchers who want to research on task-based language teaching for young learners during the pandemic.

A. Conclusion

Based on the result of the use of task based language teaching method for young learners during pandemic. It can be concluded that the teacher cannot carry out task-based learning and is not in accordance with the theory mentioned above. So basically task-based language teaching doesn't work at that school.

B. Suggestion

1. The English teacher

Due to circumstances that are not possible, teacher cannot be maximal in providing teaching. Especially when the task based language teaching method is applied. It is hoped that teacher can be more active in collaborating with parents in supervising and controlling students when studying at home.

2. The parents

Parents play an important role in the success of children learning when at home. Parents must be good at managing their children's learning and playing hours so that they do not feel burdened with the tasks given by the school. The researcher hopes that parents can carry out their role as much as possible while at home.

3. Next researchers

Researcher experienced problems when collecting parents data. Most of them are difficult to contact and do not even respond at all. For future researchers, it is hoped that they will investigate more deeply and be more balanced in taking research subjects.
