Dear Christine Coombe,

Thank you for your email. We will revise the article based on the reviewer's comment. However, we have questions regarding the template and the time for submitting the revision.

1. Do we need to follow the structure of the template for the article? For example, the template has Literature Review, but our article doesn't. Do we need to add this section to our article?
2. To make sure our article has better language quality, we plan to give it to a professional proofreader. Therefore, is it fine if we submit the revision within two weeks?

Regards,

Raida Asfihana & Yansyah

Please find attached your edited report. Please go through it and take out all the track changes and comments and format it as per the attached template and then I'll do a final review. Let me know if you have any questions.

Dear Christine Coombe,

We are so sorry if it takes too long for us to revise this article. We gave this article to a professional proofreader so hopefully it will meet your expectations, linguistically and structurally. There are some changes in this article, such as:

1. American spelling and punctuation rules are applied
2. We add two new references as the reviewer asked; and one of them is from Asia TEFL journal
3. We have addressed all the reviewers' comments

However, if you find some issues haven't been addressed from the previous email, please let us know. We would be happy to revise it as soon as possible. The revised article is attached to this email.

Regards,

Yansyah & Raida

I finished your review but sad to report that you are missing Two references

If you had had three missing references I would have rejected your report immediately but since I like it I will give you a chance to send the following to me

Harmer 2001

Shulman 1986

Please send these immediately so I can include your report in Spring 2022
