CLOSURE

A. Conclusio

Based on the findings and discussion, that follow the research question, there are several things that can be explained. they write more to express opinions but they also give opinions about questions from researchers which are concluded like this.

1. Twitter as a medium for sharing information and news

Overall Twitter is very helpful in exchanging information and news. Many Twitter users cover the world and the information they receive will become more abundant. Even though Twitter has limitations in making tweets, it is also enough to train students in reading and writing.

2. Twitter as a medium for Expressing Opinions

In the digital era, researchers are increasingly aware that social media is getting closer to us. Twitter is also one of these things, we can see many people writing various opinions on things big or small. Writing opinions that are being widely discussed is also something that is often done.

It can be concluded that reading an opinion piece on Twitter social media is also something one likes, especially when it is related to something one likes. It feels easy to write expressions of opinion about things you like. However, every time you write an opinion that is being widely discussed, you must be careful as not to misunderstand other people.

3. Twitter social media is a place for marketing and promotion

Social media promotion is growing in popularity as more and more company people utilize different kinds of media. The dynamics of internal business competition are being impacted by the rapid advancements in information technology, which are causing society as a whole to transition from a simple to a modern and fast-paced state. This has an impact on internal information behavior in a variety of fields, including education, health, entertainment, employment, and the business world. Additionally, the need for faster and more affordable information has forced information providers to establish online media platforms where customers can easily and quickly obtain information.

4. Twitter can be a social media for Learning and Education

The media acts as a platform for informational communication. the kind of media that currently has its own independent channel. Social media is the broadest, most efficient, and effective distribution channel. It is certain that advancements in technology have an impact on changes in the field of education Learning media are recognized to have psychological effects on students as well as the ability to pique their interests and wants. They may also encourage and inspire students to study. Social media has ingrained itself into people's lives everywhere, but particularly in Indonesia.

As result of recent technical advancements and inventions, social media usage is rising daily. One of the most fundamental technical necessities in Indonesian culture is social media. The advantages of social media for education, learning something on Twitter can also be about small things that we can develop someday.

B. Suggestions

1. For lectures

Lecturers and tutors can include Twitter in terms of developing a learning media in developing students' writing skills or in searching for information. Students often get assignments involving social media, but Twitter is rare.

2. For students

Students can use Twitter to develop their writing skills, even though Twitter has limits on words in writing tweets, it can make students write in short, effective sentences and also convey the message they want to write, such as sharing information or expressing opinions.

3. For other researchers

There are still many aspects that have not been discussed here, therefore the researcher hopes that future researchers can choose subjects with a wider range and discuss them better. Because this research produces more focus on expressing opinions, the researcher hopes that future researchers will be more focused on education from Twitter.
