Appendix 2. Results of the Identified Violations of Grice's Conversational Maxims in Hannibal Season 1

CO DE	Episode	Maxi m	Lines	Implication	Reason
D-001	S1E02	VQI	"Pork." (while serving human flesh)	Jack is deceived into believing he is eating pork.	Hannibal knowingly states something false. This is a genuine violation of the Maxim of Quality because he intends to deceive, not generate implicature.
D-002	S1E03	VQn	"It was one of many considerations."	Hannibal conceals that he wanted Abigail back for his own purposes.	He deliberately withholds his true reasons, providing an incomplete answer.
D-003	S1E03	VQI	"We should report this, yes?"	Hannibal pretends to support reporting Nick's disappearance despite already hiding evidence.	He knowingly says something inconsistent with his own actions after covering the bloody rock.
D-004	S1E03	VQI	"It's very likely."	Hannibal already knows Hobbs fed human flesh to his family but pretends uncertainty.	He intentionally downplays knowledge he possesses.

D-005	S1E03	VQn	"I know."	Hannibal reveals only minimal information while concealing why he knows Hobbs did not kill Cassie Boyle.	He deliberately withholds crucial information because he himself murdered Cassie.
D-006	S1E03	VQI	"I think he was provoked. Nicholas Boyle murdered this girl and his own sister."	Hannibal falsely frames Nicholas Boyle as the killer to divert suspicion.	He knowingly provides false information to deceive Jack and protect Abigail (and ultimately himself).
D-007	S1E03	VQI	"Abigail Hobbs is not a killer. But she could be the target of one."	Hannibal hides the fact that Abigail has just killed Nicholas Boyle.	He knows she has killed but intentionally misleads the investigation.
D-008	S1E03	VQI	"She'll be all right."	Hannibal reassures Abigail after knocking Alana unconscious to keep her calm.	Although Alana survives, Hannibal cannot honestly know she is "all right" at that moment; the reassurance primarily manipulates Abigail.
D-009	S1E03	VQI	"A simple conversation, ascertaining if he was home for an interview."	Hannibal lies about the purpose of his phone call to Garrett Jacob Hobbs.	The audience knows he called to provoke Hobbs into acting before the FBI arrived.

D-010	S1E03	VQI	"I'm nothing like your dad. I made a mistake. Something easily misconstrued. Not unlike yourself."	Hannibal denies being like Hobbs while concealing that he is also a serial killer.	He intentionally misrepresents his identity and motives.
D-011	S1E04	VQI	"You could say, I'm one of your guardians."	Hannibal falsely presents himself as a legitimate guardian.	He intentionally misrepresents his authority to Abigail for manipulative purposes.
D-012	S1E04	VQI	"You only have to lie about one thing. And when you're with me, you don't have to lie about anything."	Hannibal encourages Abigail to conceal the murder while presenting himself as someone with whom she can be honest.	Hannibal knowingly promotes deception, making the statement intentionally misleading.
D-013	S1E04	VQI	"You're not your father's daughter. Not anymore."	Hannibal tries to persuade Abigail she is no longer defined by her father.	Literally she remains Hobbs' daughter; Hannibal intentionally reframes reality for manipulation.
D-014	S1E04	VQI	"You and I will have many secrets."	Hannibal normalizes secrecy to strengthen Abigail's	He intentionally encourages concealment dependence on him.	from others for his own purposes.

D-015	S1E04	VQI	"Psychological trauma is an affliction of the powerless. I want to give you your power back."	Hannibal frames his manipulation as therapeutic care.	He knowingly disguises manipulation as treatment, making this deceptive rather than cooperative.
D-016	S1E04	VQI	"That feeling will pass... Let me be your guide."	Hannibal reassures Abigail while concealing that he intentionally drugged her.	He presents himself as a trustworthy therapist despite orchestrating the situation.
D-017	S1E04	VQI	"I'm sorry... You have every right to be upset with me. I overstepped my bounds."	Hannibal appears remorseful to calm Alana, although he intentionally planned everything.	The apology is strategic rather than sincere, intended to deceive Alana.
D-018	S1E04	VQI	"You were right... I only gave her half a Valium..."	Hannibal conceals that he actually administered psilocybin.	This is a direct lie intended to mislead Alana, making it a textbook violation of the Maxim of Quality .
D-019	S1E05	VQI	"I have no taste for animal cruelty, which is why I employ an ethical butcher."	Hannibal wants Bella and Jack to believe he is morally opposed to cruelty.	Hannibal knowingly deceives them. He murders humans while presenting himself as ethically concerned, making this a deliberate lie.

D-020	S1E05	VQI	"I first noticed my keen sense of smell... I was aware one of my teachers had stomach cancer even before he was."	Hannibal impresses his guests by attributing his knowledge solely to extraordinary smell.	Hannibal conceals the full truth about his abnormal abilities and presents a misleading account, making it deceptive.
D-021	S1E06	VQI	"Never just a trainee. An agent in training. Please come in."	Hannibal politely welcomes Miriam while hiding his murderous intentions.	Although the sentence itself is polite, Hannibal is intentionally deceiving Miriam about his harmless intentions, making the utterance part of a deliberate deception.
D-022	S1E06	VQI	"Perhaps not so good a memory after all. I don't recall a patient with that name, but it sounds familiar... That's why he sounds familiar. It was all over the news."	Hannibal pretends not to remember Jeremy Olmstead because he is actually the Chesapeake Ripper.	He knowingly provides false information to mislead Miriam.

D-023	S1E06	VQI	"I was? ... Let me think... You'll have to forgive me... I saw so many people in the ER..."	Hannibal continues pretending he cannot remember treating the victim.	He intentionally lies to conceal his involvement.
D-024	S1E06	VQI	"If it's the gentleman I'm thinking of, I remember a fellow hunter bringing him in, but I recall very little else."	Hannibal fabricates partial memories to appear cooperative.	He knowingly invents details while concealing the truth.
D-025	S1E06	VQI	"I did keep detailed journals during those days. If you like, I can get them for you."	Hannibal pretends to help Miriam while actually luring her into a vulnerable position so he can attack her.	He intentionally deceives Miriam with a false cooperative intention.
D-026	S1E07	VQI	"No one's died as a result of my therapy."	Hannibal conceals that several deaths have resulted from his manipulation of patients.	He knowingly says something false to deceive Will.
D-027	S1E08	VQI	"No. Just changing the subject."	Hannibal conceals that he already strongly suspects Tobias is the murderer.	He deliberately gives a false explanation to hide his knowledge and intentions. Tobias even recognizes Hannibal's probing beforehand.

D-028	S1E08	VQI	"I know exactly how you feel. But I don't want to be your friend."	Hannibal identifies with Tobias as a fellow serial killer but rejects him because Tobias is reckless.	The first sentence conceals its true basis of understanding. Hannibal intentionally masks the real reason he "knows exactly" how Tobias feels.
D-029	S1E08	VQI	"An urgent call of some sort. He had to leave suddenly."	Hannibal lies to Will to hide that Tobias was inside the house and just had dinner with him.	He deliberately provides false information, misleading Will.
D-030	S1E08	VQI	"It borders on a violation of doctor-patient confidentiality ."	Hannibal uses confidentiality as a justification while subtly steering the FBI toward Tobias.	He appears concerned about ethics, but he intentionally reveals information to manipulate the investigation.
D-031	S1E08	VQI	"For the first time in a long while, I see a possibility of friendship."	Hannibal is actually referring to Will rather than Tobias, misleading Bedelia through ambiguity.	He deliberately obscures the true object of his interest before clarifying indirectly.
D-032	S1E08	VQI	"He came to kill my patient."	Hannibal hides that he himself killed Franklyn and presents Tobias as solely responsible.	He knowingly gives investigators a false account of what happened.

D-033	S1E08	VQI	"And then he broke Franklyn's neck, and then he attacked me."	Hannibal fabricates the sequence of events to conceal his own murder of Franklyn.	This is a direct lie intended to deceive Jack Crawford and Will Graham.
D-034	S1E08	VQI	"I can't help feeling responsible for what happened to Franklyn."	Hannibal presents himself as remorseful despite knowing he personally killed Franklyn.	The statement is deceptive because it conceals the true extent of his responsibility.
D-035	S1E09	VQI	"Perhaps she's stronger than we think."	Hannibal pretends Abigail can handle the situation.	He knows Abigail's hidden guilt and trauma, making this statement intentionally deceptive.
D-036	S1E09	VQI	"Now you know the truth."	Hannibal presents a selective version of events.	He conceals his own manipulation and murders, making the "truth" incomplete.
D-037	S1E09	VQI	"Everything you know... except the end."	Reframes events to justify himself.	Omits crucial facts intentionally.
D-038	S1E09	VQI	"Abigail is no more a killer than you are..."	Attempts to morally excuse Abigail.	Hannibal knowingly minimizes homicide.
D-039	S1E09	VQI	"What we are doing here is the right thing."	Attempts to justify covering up a crime.	Hannibal knowingly presents deception as morally right.

D-040	S1E09	VQI	"In time, this will be the only story any of us cares to tell."	Claims the lie will become acceptable.	Deliberately promotes a false narrative.
D-041	S1E09	VQI	"I feel terrible... you might be a vegetarian."	Hannibal pretends to apologize politely.	The audience knows he is being insincere and manipulative.
D-042	S1E09	VQI	"We care about Abigail..."	Claims protection is his only motive.	Hannibal is actually manipulating both Abigail and Will.
D-043	S1E09	VQI	"We all want what's best for Abigail."	Implies shared motives.	Hannibal conceals his personal agenda.
D-044	S1E09	VQI	"He will keep our secret."	Claims certainty about Will's future decision.	Hannibal cannot know this as fact but presents it confidently to manipulate Abigail.
D-045	S1E09	VQI	"He will keep it because..."	Manipulates Abigail's perception of Will.	Presents speculation as certainty.
D-046	S1E09	VQI	"You're free, Abigail."	Suggests she has escaped consequences.	She is not truly free from guilt or investigation.
D-047	S1E09	VQI	"No one will know what you did."	Reassures Abigail falsely.	Hannibal cannot guarantee secrecy.

D-048	S1E09	VQI	"No. I know what monsters are. You're a victim."	Absolves Abigail of moral responsibility.	Hannibal deliberately minimizes her complicity despite knowing the truth.
D-049	S1E09	VQI	"Will and I... we're going to protect you."	Promises protection.	Hannibal speaks for Will without his consent and uses the promise to manipulate Abigail.
D-050	S1E10	VQI	"But if it isn't physiological, then you have to accept what you're struggling with is mental illness."	Hannibal steers Will toward believing he is mentally ill while concealing the true cause (encephalitis).	Hannibal already strongly suspects the real neurological illness but intentionally withholds it to mislead Will.
D-051	S1E10	VQI	"Had to be sure."	Hannibal pretends he delayed telling Will because he lacked certainty.	He already recognized the illness and intentionally concealed it for his own experiment.
D-052	S1E10	VQI	"There's nothing wrong with him neurologically."	Hannibal engineers a false conclusion to keep Will unaware of his illness.	Although not the speaker of the diagnosis itself, Hannibal's deception enables the false conclusion.

D-053	S1E10	VQI	"They found nothing wrong with him. He was very upset by that."	Hannibal lies to Jack about Will's medical condition.	He already knows Will has encephalitis but intentionally conceals it.
D-054	S1E10	VQI	"I think he wanted an answer that wasn't mental illness."	Hannibal reinforces the false belief that Will's problem is psychological.	He knowingly suppresses the real diagnosis.
D-055	S1E10	VQI	"Then we keep looking for answers."	Hannibal pretends the diagnosis remains unknown.	He already knows the answer but deceives Will to prolong the illness.
D-056	S1E10	VQI	"Perhaps you would permit me to run some tests of my own."	Hannibal presents himself as continuing the diagnostic process despite already knowing the diagnosis.	This is deliberately misleading.
D-057	S1E10	VQI	"If there were ever anything that might be of therapeutic value to others, I'd abstract it in a form that would be totally unrecognizable."	Hannibal assures Will of professional ethics while secretly treating him as an experiment.	His reassurance is intentionally deceptive.
D-	S1E10	VQI	"Will is my	Hannibal claims	His statement

058			friend. We will put out the fire when it's necessary."	concern while intentionally allowing Will's illness to progress.	conceals his true intention to continue the experiment.
D-059	S1E10	VQI	"Now that we have confirmed what it is, it'll be easier to hide from him."	Hannibal admits privately that he will continue deceiving Will.	This explicitly confirms his ongoing violation of the Maxim of Quality.
D-060	S1E10	VQI	"I'm more concerned about Will."	Hannibal presents himself as a caring psychiatrist.	While partly sincere, he conceals that he is responsible for Will's worsening condition, making the statement deceptive in context.
D-061	S1E10	VQI	"Well, I sincerely hope, for her sake, she doesn't remember much."	Hannibal appears concerned for Georgia's welfare while actually protecting himself from exposure.	His expressed motive hides his true self-serving intention.
D-062	S1E11	VQI	"I don't see anyone." / "There's no one there." / "We're alone. You came here alone."	Hannibal intentionally deceives Will so that Will doubts his own perceptions and worsening condition.	Hannibal knowingly lies. Gideon is physically present, so these statements are deliberately false, making this a violation rather than a flout.

D-063	S1E11	VQI	"He's a delusion disguising reality."	Hannibal reinforces Will's belief that everything he experiences is merely mental illness, concealing the real cause of his condition.	Hannibal knows Will's encephalitis is causing the hallucinations and that he has hidden this diagnosis. He intentionally misleads Will.
D-064	S1E11	VR	This young woman you were visiting, how's her recovery?	Hannibal redirects the conversation away from whether Will has dementia.	Instead of continuing to answer Will's concern about his illness, Hannibal abruptly changes the topic to Georgia Madchen. The shift distracts Will from questioning his deteriorating condition.
D-065	S1E11	VQI	"I would recommend you suspend his license to carry firearms."	Hannibal appears concerned for public safety but is actually attempting to isolate and weaken Will.	Although the recommendation sounds professionally justified, Hannibal's hidden intention is manipulation rather than genuine concern. This makes the cooperative intent deceptive.

D-066	S1E11	VQI	"Will Graham is troubled."	Hannibal presents himself as a concerned psychiatrist while concealing that he is largely responsible for Will's deterioration.	The statement is truthful on its surface, but Hannibal intentionally hides his role in causing Will's condition, misleading Bedelia.
D-067	S1E11	VQI	"No." (responding to "Are you more fascinated with the madness than the man?")	Hannibal denies that his fascination is primarily with Will's madness.	The audience knows Hannibal is deeply fascinated by Will's psychological transformation and is actively cultivating it, so the denial is intentionally deceptive.
D-068	S1E11	VQI	"The opportunity for friendship."	Hannibal claims his interest in Will is friendship while concealing his manipulation and experimentation.	Hannibal knowingly presents a benign motive that is inconsistent with his actual behavior, making this an intentional deception.
D-069	S1E12	VQI	"Fevers can be symptoms of dementia."	Hannibal wants Will to believe his symptoms may indicate mental illness, steering him away from the true cause	Hannibal deliberately gives misleading medical information while (encephalitis, which Hannibal knows about).	concealing the real diagnosis. He knowingly deceives Will.

D-070	S1E12	VQn	"That this could be more than a fever? No. I haven't told him."	Hannibal admits he has not informed Jack but omits that he is intentionally hiding crucial information.	He provides only partial information while withholding facts necessary for a truthful understanding.
D-071	S1E12	VQI	"Not until we know for certain."	Hannibal pretends uncertainty about Will's condition although he already knows far more than he admits.	He intentionally creates a false impression of medical uncertainty.
D-072	S1E12	VQI	"I can't imagine he would hide anything criminal from you. I've only ever known Will as a man striving to be his best self."	Hannibal attempts to reassure Jack and divert suspicion from Will despite manipulating Will himself.	Hannibal knowingly presents a misleading picture to influence Jack's judgment.
D-073	S1E12	VQI	"There are days when even Will doesn't understand his own thinking."	Hannibal subtly encourages Jack to suspect Will's mental instability.	Although partly true, Hannibal uses it deceptively to support a false narrative he is constructing.
D-074	S1E12	VQI	"Will needs my help."	Hannibal portrays himself as acting in Will's best	His stated motive contradicts his interest while secretly causing Will's deterioration.	actual intentions.

D-075	S1E12	VQI	"I'm protecting Will from influence."	Hannibal claims to protect Will while he himself is the primary source of manipulation.	He deliberately says the opposite of the truth.
D-076	S1E12	VQI	"I'm trying to help him understand."	Hannibal frames his manipulation as therapy.	He knowingly misrepresents his real objective.
D-077	S1E12	VQI	"I'll find a way to relieve them."	Hannibal implies he will resolve the pressure professionally, while he actually plans murder/manipulation.	His intended meaning is intentionally concealed.
D-078	S1E12	VQI	"Will, this is venturing into the paranoid. I can't allow you to pull Abigail into your delusion."	Hannibal dismisses Will's correct suspicions by labeling them delusions.	Rather than evaluating the evidence, he redirects the discussion toward Will's mental health.
D-079	S1E12	VQI	"Not that I'm aware of. Or he's aware of, for that matter."	Hannibal falsely implies uncertainty about Will's actions while knowing Will is innocent.	He intentionally misleads Jack to strengthen suspicion against Will.
D-080	S1E12	VQI	"He may have been confused because he was waking up. Might not have known	Hannibal fabricates an explanation for Will's confusion.	He knowingly invents symptoms to support his deception.

			where he was or how he got there."
D-081	S1E12	VQI	"From a dissociated personality state."	Hannibal falsely diagnoses Will to make him appear dangerous.	He intentionally provides false psychiatric information.
D-082	S1E12	VQI	"He's recently started to discuss this."	Hannibal conceals that Will has never described dissociative personalities.	He lies to Jack to make the diagnosis appear credible.
D-083	S1E12	VQI	"I thought it wise to be sure before making any claim about Will Graham's sanity."	Hannibal presents himself as ethically cautious.	He hides that he is deliberately manipulating the investigation.
D-084	S1E12	VQI	"No." (when Jack asks if he knows where Will and Abigail are going)	Hannibal pretends he doesn't know where Will and Abigail are going so that Jack couldn't locate them.	He intentionally hides relevant information.
D-085	S1E12	VQI	"I'm so sorry, Jack."	Hannibal pretends sympathy while orchestrating the situation himself.	His expression of regret is insincere and intended to manipulate Jack emotionally.
D-086	S1E12	VQI	"I was so worried about you."	Hannibal reassures Abigail although he intends to kill her.	He knowingly expresses false concern.

D-087	S1E12	VQI	"They'll arrest you when they find you, yes. And Will."	Hannibal presents arrest as the outcome while concealing his own murderous intentions.	He deliberately withholds his real plan.
D-088	S1E12	VQI	"They will believe he did. They will believe he killed others, too."	Hannibal manipulates Abigail into believing Will will be blamed, increasing her despair.	Although the prediction is likely true, Hannibal uses it deceptively to serve his own scheme.
D-089	S1E12	VQI	"I'm so sorry, Abigail. I'm sorry I couldn't protect you in this life."	Hannibal pretends regret immediately before killing Abigail, framing himself as a failed protector rather than her attacker.	His apology is fundamentally deceptive because he is the source of the danger, not her protector.
D-090	S1E13	VQI	"Will, we have to call Jack. You can't run from this. It will only be worse."	Hannibal pretends to help Will while actually steering him toward being arrested and framed.	Hannibal deliberately deceives Will about his intentions. He knows Will is innocent because he framed him, making the statement intentionally false.
D-091	S1E13	VQI	"I find myself searching for ways that Abigail could still be alive."	Hannibal performs grief to Bedelia despite knowing Abigail is dead because he killed her.	He intentionally says something he knows is false to conceal the truth.

D-092	S1E13	VQI	"I was so confident in my ability to help him, to solve him... Saving him, I lost Abigail. It's hard to accept that I could fail them both so profoundly."	Hannibal portrays himself as a failed psychiatrist instead of the architect of both tragedies.	He knowingly gives a false account of events, hiding his responsibility.
D-093	S1E13	VQI	"That is extreme." (after seeing Will's abnormal clock drawing)	Hannibal feigns surprise to support the appearance that Will's illness has suddenly worsened.	He already knows Will suffers from encephalitis because he caused the condition and therefore is not genuinely surprised.
D-094	S1E13	VQI	"I was with Will that entire time."	Hannibal attempts to eliminate suspicion that he made the warning phone call.	Although mostly true, he omits that Will was briefly alone and conceals that Hannibal himself made the call, intentionally misleading Jack.
D-095	S1E13	VQI	"I'm not confused. I'm skeptical. Meaning I'm willing to change my mind should the evidence	Hannibal pretends to evaluate Will objectively although he already knows Will is innocent.	He falsely presents himself as an impartial psychiatrist while concealing his certainty.

			change."
D-096	S1E13	VQI	"I believe it's entirely possible, if not nearly indisputable, based on how you discovered her ear."	Hannibal reinforces Will's self-doubt and the false narrative that Will committed the murders.	Hannibal knows the evidence was planted by himself, so he intentionally misleads Will.
D-097	S1E13	VQI	"If we're to prove you didn't commit these murders, perhaps we should consider how you could have. And then disprove that."	Hannibal manipulates Will into entertaining false guilt rather than discovering the real killer.	He pretends this is therapeutic reasoning while secretly strengthening the frame-up.
D-098	S1E13	VQI	"If that would help you."	Hannibal appears supportive of Will's investigation while actually using the reconstruction to manipulate him further.	His expressed intention is insincere.
D-099	S1E13	VQI	"It's as if Abigail was supposed to die in this kitchen."	Hannibal pretends to infer the scene instead of acknowledging he knows exactly what happened.	He conceals firsthand knowledge because he committed the murder.
D-100	S1E13	VQI	"Perhaps you didn't come here looking	Hannibal redirects Will away from suspecting	He knowingly advances a false for a killer. Perhaps you came here to find yourself."	Hannibal and back toward doubting himself.	psychological interpretation.

D-101	S1E13	VQI	"Whoever that was, killed the others."	Hannibal encourages Will to believe only two possibilities exist: Will or the unknown killer.	Hannibal intentionally excludes himself despite being the murderer.
D-102	S1E13	VQI	"Would it feel good to kill me now?"	Hannibal attempts to provoke Will emotionally and distract from the accusation.	Rather than addressing the accusation, Hannibal manipulates the conversation while concealing the truth.
D-103	S1E13	VQI	"What reason would I have?"	Hannibal denies having a motive for murder.	He knows he has murdered numerous people for curiosity and personal philosophy, making the question intentionally deceptive.
D-104	S1E13	VQI	"I believe I've failed to satisfy my obligation to Will, more than I care to admit."	Hannibal frames himself as someone who merely failed to help Will rather than someone who deliberately destroyed him.	He intentionally misrepresents his role.
D-105	S1E13	VQI	"No one in this room will be the same."	On the surface it expresses sympathy, but	The statement conceals his agency and Hannibal knows he is the cause of everyone's suffering.	presents him as an observer instead of the perpetrator.

D-106	S1E13	VQI	"As a farewell. Of sorts."	Hannibal disguises his real intention for visiting Will, which is to continue manipulating him and savor his victory.	His explanation is only partially truthful and deliberately misleading.
D-107	S1E13	VQI	"He didn't cost me my life. He cost Abigail hers."	Hannibal shifts responsibility for Abigail's death onto Will.	Hannibal himself killed Abigail, making this an intentional falsehood.
D-108	S1E13	VQI	"What pattern would that be?"	Hannibal feigns ignorance of the behavioral pattern Bedelia describes.	He clearly knows the pattern because it reflects his deliberate method of manipulating vulnerable people.
