

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

A. Conclusion

According to the explanations before, there are two most important points that the writer found as the conclusion or result of this research:

- a. Respondents stated that online application used for English learning (speaking) is good and quite helpful in replacing offline learning. The applications they used is quite efficient and also can replace the offline learning because the features of audio and video. The last they hope that online application used for learning English (speaking) save internet data and with small storage space. There are also those who suggest the application used has a more attractive appearance while still with the audio and video features. There are also student who want an application that contains features so that they can find our errors in pronunciation.
- b. WhatsApp is the most efficient application used in online learning in teaching speaking.

B. Suggestion

Based on the data presented above, which is gained through questionnaire and interview, the writer has some suggestions which will be useful sometime for the improvement of application used in online learning especially in English class speaking skill:

a. For the students'

When learning using online application students are expected to be able to listen and give more attention on learning. Not doing other activities while studying online, this will also affect the absorption of the material and of course the usefulness of the application being operated.

b. For the teacher

Teacher are expected to be able to maximize online learning by taking advantages of free applications that are already available but without regard to the efficiency of the application.