وَمِنْ آيَاتِهِ خَلْقُ السَّمَوَاتِ وَالْأَرْضِ وَاخْتِلَافُ أَلْسِنَتِكُمْ وَالْوَلُوكُمْ ۚ إِنَّ فِي ذَلِكَ لَآيَاتٍ لِّلْعَالَمِينَ ٢٢

And one of His signs is the creation of the heavens and the earth, and the diversity of your languages and colors. Surely in this are signs for those of 'sound' knowledge.

B. Sonic the hedgehog script

[Scene: San Francisco, day.]

[The camera zooms in on the city and two blazing specks of light dash all over the place as one shoots lasers at the other. We then see an enemy aircraft flying throughout while it's chasing a blue hedgehog (Sonic), who is running from the pursuer. We see full closeups of Dr. Robotnik in his craft and Sonic as he runs. The scene freezes after an explosion with Sonic barely missing it.]

Sonic (As narrator): So, I know what you're thinking. Why is that incredibly handsome hedgehog being chased by a madman with a mustache from the Civil War?

[The scene unfreezes and Sonic continues running and dodging laser blasts from Dr. Robotnik]

Sonic: Well, to be honest, it feels like I've been running my whole life. Is this too much? Am I going too fast? It's kind of what I do. You know what? Let's back up.

[We see the whole chase going in reverse as well as frames of future clips for a split second each time one passes as Sonic mimics a rewind sound effect.]

[Scene: Green Hills, Montana, 10 years later, day.]

[Behind a welcome sign, we see a Green Hills Sheriff's Department Ford Crown Victoria Police Interceptor patrol car sitting idly by the road and a police officer named Tom Wachowski is holding a speed velocity gun, trying to find speeding drivers passing by his speed trap, but none are in sight]

Tom: Come on, one car?

[Tom shakes his hand a little from holding the radar gun for too long, and he starts messing around after boredom kicks in, acting like he's actually trying to catch speeding drivers, only to have the side of his face smacked against the radar gun. Finally, Tom puts it aside]

Tom: I'm bored!

[Suddenly, Tom hears his radio and his deputy Wade Whipple is on the other end]

Wade: (Over radio) Tom, do you read me? Are you there?

Tom: [Grabs the microphone and answers back in a joking manner] No, Wade, I'm actually on a yacht in Barbados. [Slight pause] With Rihanna.
[Scene Change: Police Station, day.]

[We see Wade at the police station]

Wade: O-M-G. [Clears his throat] That's amazing. Please send pics.

[Scene Change: Green Hills, Montana, speed trap, day.]

Tom: No, Wade. I'm at the speed trap.

Wade: (Over radio) Already? How did you get back so fast? Barbados is in the ocean!

Tom: Hang on, I think I got something.

[Tom takes his radar gun and aims it at a slow-moving turtle, and the device beeps and shows the target speed of the turtle is 001.]

Tom: Hey, buddy! Where's the fire? Got kids living around here!

[The turtle doesn't take much notice as it continues strolling along the road. Tom smiles]

Tom: I thought it was kinda funny. Sorry.

[Tom takes his sunglasses off just as a speeding blue speck of light passes his patrol car and his radar gun beeps, indicating that the target speed is now 296.]

Tom: What?

[Tom checks the radar gun and the road in front of him, only to see nothing, and the blue speck of light speeds by again, setting off Tom's radar gun and showing him the target speed of 300 this time. As Tom fidgets with the radar gun, he doesn't notice a playful Sonic, now a teenager, making gestures behind the patrol car. Tom departs his vehicle and walks along the road, pondering the situation. He then walks over to the grass, noticing something blue. He kneels down, picks it up and inspects it. We later learn that it is actually one of Sonic's quills. Then, Tom hears Wade on the radio, sounding serious.]

Wade: (over radio) Tom, we need you down on Main Street. There's been a violent gang shoot-out.

[As Tom leaves in his patrol car, with his red and blue emergency lights blazing, Wade laughs]

Wade: Just kidding. A duck stole a bagel. But they do need it back.

[The turtle from earlier is seen still slowly strolling across the road and doesn't seem to notice an oncoming truck approaching. Just then, a blue speck of light speeds past and the turtle is now gone. We see that it was actually Sonic and that he saved the turtle]

Sonic: Whoa, buddy! You almost got yourself killed out there. What are you, some kind of adrenaline junkie? [Gently pats the turtle's head with his finger] It must be rough being slow all the time. Tell you what. Today is your lucky day.

["Don't Stop Me Now" by Queen plays as Sonic runs at full speed down the road with the turtle in his hands, and the turtle looks like it is enjoying the ride]

Sonic: Whoo-hoo-hoo-hoo! Have you ever felt so alive?!

[Sonic does an airplane impression with the turtle in one hand]

Sonic: This is great! You're doing amazing!

[The turtle flies out of his hand]

Sonic: Oh, geez!

[Sonic runs to retrieve the turtle and runs back]

Sonic: Good recovery!

[Sonic speeds through the foothills]

Sonic: Whoo-hoo-hoo-hoo-hoo!

[Scene Change: Woods, day.]

[Sonic sets the shaking turtle down on the ground after their run]

Sonic: Let's keep this our little secret, okay? You never saw me. [In a mysterious voice] I was never here.

["Don't Stop Me Now" continues as Sonic speeds through the woods and into his new home in the trunk of a tree and he's having a real blast, mimicking a singer, doing calisthenics, playing guitar, and jumping rope]

Sonic (narrating): So what were you expecting? [Swinging on a tire swing] A dirty little hedgehog eating berries and struggling to survive? Think again. [Reading comic books of The Flash] Because I am living my best life on Earth. I've got a library, [Running inside a dryer like a hamster on a wheel] a home gym, [Wearing a ninja headband and brandishes two pairs of nunchucks] and a state-of-the-art security system.

[Sonic waves the nunchucks around until he hits himself. He then plays ping-pong with himself, zipping between both sides of the table, and has fun until he hits Longclaw's Ring satchel, spilling several Rings as well as a piece of paper on the ground]

Sonic: Oh, no!

[Sonic gathers the Rings and puts them back and then takes a look at the paper, which is actually a map of planets]

Sonic (narrating): And if I'm ever discovered, I'll follow Longclaw's instructions and use my Rings to escape to a new planet.

[Sonic holds up a Ring to the map against Earth on the map. He then hovers it over another planet, represented by mushrooms.]

Sonic (narrating): A nice, safe world filled only with mushrooms.

[Sonic tosses the ring and it opens up a portal to the Mushroom Planet, where thousands of mushrooms large and small grow like forests]

Sonic (narrating): Gross, smelly mushrooms.

[Sonic now looks annoyed]

Sonic: I hate mushrooms.

[Scene Change: Foothills, day.]

[Sonic reaches a ledge overlooking Green Hills and looks out at the beautiful landscape]

Sonic (narrating): But let's not worry about all that! This is Green Hills, the greatest place on Earth.

[Sonic speeds off to the city]

Sonic (narrating): These are my people, and, dare I say, I am their loveable space creature. [Stands on top of a building, watching everything] So what if they don't know I exist?

[We see Tom holding a donut]

Sonic (narrating): My favorite person is the Donut Lord, [Tom eats the donut] protector of this town and defender of all creatures, big and small. [We see a family of ducks crossing the road and Tom is halting traffic in order to let the ducks cross and he also talks to them]

Tom: Morning! Donald, Daisy, Daffy.

[Scene Change: Wachowski residence.]

[We then see Maddie Wachowski, Tom's wife, walking to her backyard with a laptop]

Sonic (narrating): Donut Lord lives with Pretzel Lady.

[We see that Maddie is practicing yoga]

Sonic (narrating): She is super nice to animals and strangely was born without bones.

[Sonic is watching from behind some bushes and trying to replicate Maddie's poses]

Sonic: Ouch, ouch, ouch.

[Scene Change: Restaurant, day.]

[We see Crazy Carl, holding a crudely drawn picture of Sanic in front of some people and they are laughing hysterically]

Sonic (narrating): There is one person in town who's actually onto me. He calls me the blue devil!

Crazy Carl: [To Tom] I almost caught him last night.

[Scene Change: Forest, night.]

[We see a flashback where Crazy Carl has traps set up all over the place.]

Sonic (narrating): Say hello to Crazy Carl.

[Sonic zips by the traps, setting them off, and not one of them catches him. Crazy Carl grows frantic]

Sonic (narrating): We have fun together.

[Crazy Carl ends up getting caught in one of his own traps and is now hanging upside down from a tree]

Crazy Carl: I know you're out there! And I know you're real!

Sonic: [Faintly] No, I'm not!

[Scene: Wachowski residence interior, night.]

[Tom and Maddie are sitting on the couch with their dog, Ozzy, eating popcorn and watching a movie.]

Sonic (narrating): Movie night is my favorite.

[Sonic slowly rises from behind the window and has his fingers crossed and his eyes closed]

Sonic: Please, please, please, please.

[Sonic opens one eye and sees the movie's title, Speed, appear on the television]

Sonic: Yes! Keanu! You are a national treasure.

Jack on TV (Keanu Reeves): When I find you--

Howard Payne on TV (Dennis Hopper): Pop quiz, hotshot. There's a bomb on the bus.

Sonic: "Pop quiz, hotshot." [Makes a chef's kiss gesture] It's a classic line.

Sonic (narrating): Basically, we're like a family. Even though we haven't met yet.

[Scene Change: Psychiatrist's Office, day.]

Sonic: [As a psychiatrist, speaking in a German accent, wearing glasses, and holding a clipboard and pencil] You don't zink your prolonged isolation is making you a bit crazy, perhaps? [Playing the role of a patient] Crazy? Me? No way, Doc. You got me all wrong. [Plays the role of the psychiatrist again] And despite all these so-called friends of yours, [Takes off the glasses] deep down, [In a normal voice] you're still rather lonely?

[Scene: Wachowski residence, night.]

[As Sonic leaves for the night, he takes one last look through the window and smiles a little from seeing the Wachowskis enjoy their movie]

Sonic (narrating): Perhaps afraid you'll be alone forever?

[Sonic frowns and departs.]

[Scene Change: Wachowski residence, night.]

[Tom's truck pulls into the driveway and we see a couple of raccoons rummaging through the garbage bins and Tom honks his horn to try to get their attention]

Tom: Uh-uh! Hey! No, no. Get out of there. [Exits the truck, annoyed and agitated] Oh, come on! Get out of there!

[The raccoons leave the trash behind]

Tom: Get out of there, you trash pandas. [Walks in the door and closes it] Maddie, as Green Hill's most respected veterinarian, what is the fastest way to exterminate a raccoon?

[Tom sets his work bag up and Ozzy walks in to greet him]

Tom: Hi, Ozzy! Hello! You're glad to see me!

[As Tom pets Ozzy, Maddie walks in holding an envelope]

Tom: You don't eat garbage, do you? [Stands up after seeing Maddie with the envelope] What's that? Is that what I think it is?

Maddie: [Nods] Uh-huh. Open it.

Tom: [Walks to Maddie and takes the envelope, inspecting it] Oh, it's kind of small. Is that bad?

Maddie: Just... open it. [Smiles with excitement and anticipation]

[Tom opens the envelope and both he and Maddie walk to the kitchen counter and Tom takes a deep breath and he reads a letter from the envelope]

Tom: "Dear Thomas, we have reviewed your application to the San Francisco Police Department, and pending interdepartmental review and background check, we are happy to inform you that you have been selected to join our team."

Maddie: [Ecstatic] Aah! Oh, my God!

Tom: Wow! Oh, my God.

[Maddie pulls out a pink box and sets it on the counter, and opens it to reveal a cake]

Maddie: Ta-da!

Tom: [Looks at the cake and reads it] "San Francisco Sucks."

[The cake shows a burning Golden Gate Bridge and blue letters reading "Forget Those Morons, San Francisco SUCKS!"]

Maddie: Oh!

[Maddie realizes her mistake and puts the cake away]

Maddie: Wrong one!

[Maddie pulls out a new box and opens it up to reveal another cake]

Maddie: Ta-da! [Giggles]

[The new cake shows the words "CONGRATULATIONS" in red letters at the top, "I Never Had A Doubt!" in blue letters at the bottom and a decorative portrait of a police officer in the center]

Tom: You never had a doubt, huh?

Maddie: No! Mm-mmm.

[Maddie and Tom hug and kiss each other]

Tom: I can't believe this!

Maddie: Oh, I know! You did it!

[Tom notices Maddie's laptop open]

Tom: Hey, what are those?

Maddie: Apartments for rent I found on Zillow.

[Her laptop shows a listing for apartments on the website]

Maddie: I thought Ozzy and I could fly there tomorrow and check out some neighborhoods.

Tom: I mean, this is all happening so fast.

[Tom walks to the dining room and sits down at the table]

Maddie: Oh, man. It's the craziest thing; you apply for the job, you get the job.

[Maddie walks to the dining room and sits across from Tom]

Tom: Well, pending a background check.

Maddie: Oh, man. Hope they don't find out about that time you used the neighbor's Wi-Fi.

Tom: Correction: I'm still using the neighbor's Wi-Fi. But, Maddie, are you sure you're okay with this?

Maddie: Thomas Michael Wachowski, what did you do the entire time I was in veterinary school?

Tom: I worked a second job to pay the rent and--

Maddie: A third job to pay tuition. You sacrificed for me. I'm happy to sacrifice for you. [Both she and Tom smile] Babe, are you sure you're okay with this? I mean, there's been a Wachowski protecting this town for more than 50 years. This is a big change.

Tom: I'm positive. [Gets up from the table] It's time for this guy to get out there and prove himself. [Walks over to Maddie] I love Green Hills, but, you know, I want to help people in real trouble. I want someone to turn to me in a life-and-death situation and I'll be there for 'em. [Nods]

Maddie: [Nods] I get it. I'm so proud of you.

Tom: Thank you.

[Both Tom and Maddie hug]

[Scene Change: Road, day.]

Tom: And so, it is with a heavy heart that I tell you all that I've accepted a position at the San Francisco Police Department, effective immediately. It's gonna be tough to leave my hometown and all my friendships. But this is something I feel like I need to do to grow... as both an officer and a man.

[It is revealed that Tom was practicing his departure speech and reciting it to his hood ornament, a pink frosted sprinkled donut wearing sunglasses and wire limbs attached. Its sprinkles form a "moustache".]

Tom: What do you think, Sergeant Sprinkles? That wasn't so bad, right? Now, all I got to do is... tell everyone who isn't a donut.

[Scene Change: Baseball diamond, day.]

[Sonic is peeking from behind a tree, watching a baseball game]

Sonic: Whoa, the playoffs!

[Sonic speeds over to the bleachers to watch the game up close and the players congratulating each other. Later on, everyone packs up and heads for home, leaving the baseball diamond completely empty. Sonic is now on the baseball diamond, admiring the beauty of it all.]

Sonic: Whoa. So cool.

[Sonic spots some baseball equipment and he plays the role of a batter at home plate.]

Sonic: Bottom of the ninth, tie score. And exactly who you want at the plate with the game on the line--Sonic!

[Sonic is now playing the role of the pitcher for the opposing team]

Sonic: But staring him down from the pitcher's mound is the most fearsome southpaw in Green Hills--also Sonic!

[Sonic switches back to the batter]

Sonic: Okay. Focus, Sonic. If you win this game, you'll be the most beloved kid in Green Hills.

[Playing the role of an infielder, Sonic does a secret code with his fingers, straightens his cap, slaps his face a few times, does a couple of armpit farts, flaps his hands and cups them against his mouth]

Sonic: Hit it to the guy in left! He's a real space case.

[Playing the role of the left outfielder, Sonic blows a bubble of gum and resumes the role of the pitcher]

Sonic: Ugh, I can't with that guy.

[Sonic plays the role of the umpire]

Sonic: Hey, batter Sonic. Hey, batter Sonic. "Suh-wing," batter Sonic.

[As the pitcher, Sonic throws the ball and speeds to the batter position as the ball makes its way towards home plate and he hits the ball high. As the outfielder, he smells a flower in the grass and sees the ball]

Sonic: I got it, I got it, I got it!

[Sonic tries to catch the ball but is unsuccessful]

Sonic: I don't got it.

[As the batter, Sonic runs to first base and rounds second while he throws the ball as the outfielder and he dodges the ball in slow motion as the batter and he comes up to third base and plays the role of a teammate]

Sonic: Go home! Go home!

[Sonic rounds third base and he plays the umpire again]

Sonic: Come on!

[Sonic jumps up and makes a dive for home plate, the umpire catches the ball and he makes it]

Sonic: Safe!

[Sonic slides to a stop and jumps with joy]

Sonic: Ah, yes! Yes, yes, yes! I did it! Did you see that? I did it! I did it.

[Sonic holds up his hand, but sees that the baseball diamond is completely empty and silent]

Sonic: I really am alone. All alone... forever.

[Sonic whips off the batter helmet and starts running around the perimeter of the baseball diamond at a very fast speed, his anger and sadness increasing and energy building with each lap. Finally, Sonic lets out a loud yell as a bright blue electromagnetic pulse explodes in the air, causing the lights in the baseball diamond to explode. The brilliant pulse blooms outwards and spreads across the valley. Several cities black out, plunging into darkness. Even a satellite is disabled by the EMP.]

Sonic: I'm sure no one noticed that giant blue explosion, right? [Speeds away]

[Scene Change: Police Station Interior, night.]

[The police station's phone is ringing like crazy and Wade is staring at the machine in terror, and he dials Tom]

Tom: [Notices Wade on the caller ID even in the dark and answers] Hey, Wade.

Wade: Hi, Tom. Wade here. What is going on?

Tom: Well, gosh, I think the power's out.

Wade: Yeah, no dur! The lights are out. The whole town is freaking out. What should I do?

Tom: Okay, relax. Take a deep breath, call Gil, see if they can locate the downed line, then call Zim and see if he can get his generator over to the Super Q so the food stays fresh. [Notices something blue glowing in the dark]

Wade: (over the phone) Call Zim before Gil? Call Gil--Hello?!

Tom: I'll call you back.

Wade: Wait, no, no! Wait! Hello? Was that the end of the instructions?

[Sets his cell phone down] Okay, all right. You can do this. What was the first thing he said to do? Right. Relax.

[Scene: Wachowski residence, night.]

[Tom moves an object aside and sees Sonic's quill glowing bright blue in the dark, electricity crackling along it, and picks it up. inspecting it once more]

[Scene Change: The Pentagon, night.]

[The top members of the United States military sit down at a table in a joint meeting, held by Commander Walters, commander of the U.S. Armed Forces]

Commander Walters: Twenty minutes ago, an energy surge knocked out power across the entire Pacific Northwest. What do we know?

Navy Chief of Staff: Well, our first instinct was it was an EMP. But electromagnetic pulses don't have that kind of power.

Air Force Chief of Staff: NASA has ruled out meteor strikes or solar flares.

Secretary of Homeland Security: The Department of Energy says it's not a power plant malfunction.

Commander Walters: Well, sounds like we're really good at figuring out what it wasn't.

Army Chief of Staff: This could be a prelude to a larger attack. I'm suggesting we scramble the Fifth and Sixth Regiment.

Commander Walters: No, no, no, no. This needs a much more sophisticated mind. Someone who understands technology.

Army Chief of Staff: You want to send in a lab rat?

Commander Walters: Not just any lab rat. A lab rat with teeth.

Air Force Chief of Staff: You're not suggesting who I think you're suggesting.

Commander Walters: I know he's a little weird.

Air Force Chief of Staff: "Weird?!"

Army Chief of Staff: No. No. No way.

Air Force Chief of Staff: He's a psychological tire fire!

Commander Walters: But he's also brilliant. Five PhDs, IQ off the charts. And his drone tech i-i-is revolutionary!

Army Chief of Staff: You're sure he can handle this?

Commander Walters: He has a perfect operations record. Remember the coup in Pakistan?

Army Chief of Staff: No.

Commander Walters: Or the uprising in Azerbaijanistan?

Navy Chief of Staff: That's not even a country.

Commander Walters: Exactly. And you can thank Robotnik for that.

Air Force Chief of Staff: I can't believe you're bringing that freak into this.

Commander Walters: Neither can I. But... we have no choice.

[Scene Change: Mushroom Planet, day.]

[We see that Dr. Robotnik has completely lost his sanity, he is looking zany, and looking at his reflection in a puddle of water as he finishes shaving himself completely bald, and his mustache has long grown-out.]

Dr. Robotnik: My grasp on sanity remains... absolute. [Turns his head] Isn't that right, Agent Stone?

[We see a stone carving of what is supposed to be Agent Stone. Robotnik picks up the rock]

Robotnik: Why don't you get a head start? [Tosses the rock] Do some Rock-Connaissance! HAHAAAAAAAA! ROCK-CONNAISSANCE! Come on, that's hilarious! [Bumps a mushroom] What's the matter with you?! [Picks up his doctor's log, which reads, DOCTOR'S LOG: DAY 87] Here's the "sitch": Uninhabited planet, [Picks up a large backpack and puts it on his back] no resources, no supplies, no apparent way home... A lesser man would die here. [Holds up a small canister housing Sonic's quill] I'll be home by Christmas.

[Robotnik puts the capsule away and puts his flight goggles on and starts imitating a robot, making servo noises with each turn of his body as he walks. He sees the stone carving of Agent Stone again, picks it up, and throws it one last time.]

Robotnik: ROCK-CONNAISSANCE!!! [Cackles loudly] Come on! Cheer up!

[The credits roll with a 16-Bit Sega Genesis retelling of the entire film while "Speed Me Up" by Wiz Khalifa, Lil Yachty, Ty Dolla $ign, and Sueco The
