

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

A. Conclusion

Based on findings and discussion, it can be concluded that many lecturer in UPB Antasari Islamic state University are used teacher written corrective feedback at their online writing class and they agreed that giving feedback are important to do in teaching process because from feedback the students know their weakness in writing English such as putting wrong vocabularies or miss spelling.

Based on the findings and discussions, there are several strategies and types of corrective feedback that are applied in online learning in UPB classes, giving feedback is the most important aspect in writing English.

B. Suggestions

After conducting this research, the research suggests the lectures or to students of Antasari Islamic State Islamic University should to more attention to how providing feedback at their classes specially to teach English leasson. For the research, the researcher suggests the next researchers to give more variabels that explain about another feedback.