

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

A. Conclusion

Based on the findings and discussions results of data analysis from the teacher's feedback used by the teacher, there are 5 types of oral corrective feedback in the 3 videos analyzed on Youtube content Teacha Karen speaking skill in English learning this research found that they are feedback as recast, explicit correction, elicitation, clarification request, metalinguistic feedback. The teacher often utters and delivers recast feedback. The teacher employs recast feedback to correct students' abilities in studying and learning, and also has direct knowledge of how students' abilities are. The teacher also uses feedback to build students' abilities in order to improve their speaking skills in communicating.

B. Suggestion

After interpreting the findings of this study, the research suggests that in research, many things can be used and many methodologies can be employed, in evaluating a subject, one of which in this study is video content, there are many things that can be produced. & used as learning, and

1. For the researcher

This study is beneficial for providing understanding, knowledge and giving new experiences for the researcher especially about providing feedback in online video learning speaking skill.

2. For English Teacher

The teacher is crucial in providing feedback is highly concerned in every lesson how from the method the teacher provides feedback. This research hope by conducting this study the english teacher suppose to use a feedback with appropriate and can make students clearly understand in delivering feedback on the learning material.

3. The future research

The researcher hope that this study can used as a resource for readers and assist to the next researcher provide more approaches and sorts of explanations for this feedback.