The value of Banjar culture in human relations with others is also related to the kinship system and religious attitudes (Islam) of the Banjar people. Urang Banjar runs an ethnic philosophy of living both positive and negative which consists of 10 virtues, one of which is baiman. Baiman is learning about the faith and harmony of Islam. The purpose of this study is to find out how the knowledge and understanding of Banjar cultural values in Adolescents in Banjarmasin City and the application of Banjar cultural values to Adolescents in Banjarmasin City. This type of research uses a qualitative approach. The subjects in this study were 2 people. Data collection using observation and interviews. Based on the results of interviews with both subjects, it shows that the greater application compared to other Banjar cultural values is about the cultural values of Baiman and every Banjar believes in the existence of God.

Based on the results obtained, it is stated that (1) Knowledge and understanding of Banjar cultural values in adolescents in Banjarmasin City by looking at several cognitive, affective, and psychomotor aspects. Banjar teenagers know about Banjar cultural values because in addition to being taught in a family environment they also learn from childhood, namely with local content lessons in schools as one of the curricula in preserving Banjar culture for students. (2) The application of Banjar Remaja cultural values in Banjarmasin City is quite good, where they are able to apply in themselves when behaving with peers or with parents, namely kissing hands to their elders and giving greetings to the young when meeting, therefore the importance of Banjar cultural values of faith in Allah SWT. Good Banjar cultural values must always be fostered and applied by the Banjar community, especially Banjar Youth in order to have a balance between social life and fellow humans and obey Allah SWT, namely by having faith.
