

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

A. Conclusion

The result of the content analysis of Youtube “Learn English with TV Series” as a media for learning grammar, it can be conclude that there are 10 types of grammar, as followed articles, nouns, pronouns, adjectives, verbs, adverbs, tenses, preposition, conjunction, and modal auxiliaries.

The content analysis of Youtube “Learn English with TV Series” can be used for learning grammar that is related to the theories and the findings from 10 videos of Youtube “Learn English with TV Series” about learning grammar especially for 10 types of grammar that have found in the videos.

B. Suggestion

According to the research result, the researcher wanna gives some suggestion that relevant to the research as evaluation to improve knowledge in the future, as follows:

1. For the researcher

This researche is useful for knowing the types of garmmar, increasing understanding, improving knowledge and giving new experience for researcher especially in researching the content analysis of Youtube “Learn English with TV Series” as a media for learning grammar.

2. For the students

The research that this research will help students in English for knowing the types of grammar, understanding and improving their skills in learning English especially for learning grammar in general.

3. The future researcher

This researcher hope that this researcher will be used as a source for readers and help to the next researcher in completing their research.