

CHAPTER V

CLOSURE

A. Conclusion

Having described the data in the previous chapter about the implementation of multilingual education and Parents' Role in Al-Muhajirin Antang Elementary School the researcher can concluded that:

1. From three observations at the Al-Muhajirin Antang elementary school, researcher found that the teacher implemented the appropriate steps, namely the teacher fulfilled the application of multilingual education starting from preparation, pre-activity, whilst-activity to post-activity.
2. Parents' role in multilingual education precisely in the first class of Al-Muhajirin Antang Elementary School was fulfilled the parents have tried to provide and fulfill their roles properly. The roles that researchers found during research and interviews include, means communicating with children, support children's interests and talents, helping children with homework, giving gifts when children behave well and achieve, attending events and familiarize themselves with the school, and the last is be a good role model for children related to multilingual education.

B. Suggestion

Based on the implementation of multilingual education and Parents' Role in Al-Muhajirin Antang Elementary School, the researcher provide suggestions. The suggestions that the researcher provide are as follows:

1. There isn't much that the researcher can give suggestion because the teacher has set it well enough, as the researcher mentioned earlier that the only drawback of the English teacher in the first grade is that she doesn't use technique when teaching in class. Therefore, the researcher suggests that teacher tries to apply teaching techniques that are somewhat more interesting and fun for students. The researcher also hopes that teacher can continue to maintain and also further improve the quality of teaching in the future.
2. For the role of parents in the first grade of Al-Muhajirin Antang elementary school the researcher also found there is no deficiencies in parents fulfilling their roles, in this case the researcher only suggests that can maintain it all somewhat can always be a good parent to their children and hopefully can inspire other parents to fulfill their role a little more for the good of their children. Researcher really hopes that more parents will pay attention to their children's need, education and future.
