One of the shortcomings of teaching and learning in Islamic boarding schools is the lack of learning media other than books. Because the students in Islamic boarding schools are not allowed to use electronics devices such as cellphones, laptops, and so on. Therefore, teachers who teach in Islamic boarding schools must be creative in terms of teaching. Not only one method is used for teaching, but the teacher must be able to choose or combine teaching methods, especially in teaching grammar. So that teaching and learning activities become more fun and not bored.
