The Benua Anyar 8 Banjarmasin State Elementary School was established in 1991 and commenced its educational activities in 1992. Initially, it operated like a typical elementary school. However, in early 2003, it admitted one transfer student with special needs, specifically mild intellectual disability. Recognizing the inadequate educational services for disabled children in the Benua Anyar area, the school's principal decided in 2005 to publicize it as an inclusive school, welcoming students from various backgrounds, including those with special needs. This decision was in line with the 1997 Law on Persons with Disabilities, Article 25. Consequently, the school has continuously strived to enhance educational services for children with special needs in the South Kalimantan region, aiming to become a model institution or educational center for them. The school is located at Jl. Benua Anyar RT 01 No 04, East Banjarmasin District, Banjarmasin City, South Kalimantan Province, with a strategic location away from busy roads to ensure a conducive learning environment.
